OPINION

PER CURIAM

Bobby E. Hazel, pro se, appeals an order of the United States District Court for the Middle District of Pennsylvania dismissing his habeas petition filed pursuant to 28 U.S.C.

§ 2241 for lack of jurisdiction. We will affirm.

In 1993, a federal jury found Hazel and a co-defendant guilty of first-degree murder and possession of a dangerous weapon by a prisoner for murdering a fellow inmate at Lorton Correctional Facility in Occoquan, Virginia. Hazel was sentenced to life imprisonment. He appealed, and the United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit affirmed his conviction and sentence, which he is now serving at the United States Penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pennsylvania. In 1997, Hazel filed a motion to vacate, set aside or correct his sentence pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2255. It was denied on the merits. Following the denial of that motion, Hazel has filed a series of applications to file a second or successive § 2255 motion, one of which was granted. The second § 2255 motion he was permitted to file, however, was denied.

In January 2005, Hazel filed the instant petition pursuant to § 2241. He claims that the District Court that adjudicated his first § 2255 motion summarily dismissed his motion without an evidentiary hearing or a full consideration of his claims and that his claims were not fully addressed in any of his attempts at collateral attack. He also claims actual innocence. The District Court dismissed Hazel's petition on the basis that § 2255 was not inadequate, and the court, therefore, lacked jurisdiction to consider Hazel's claims under § 2241. Hazel filed a motion for reconsideration, which the District Court denied. Hazel timely appealed. We have jurisdiction pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1291.

We agree with the District Court that Hazel is not entitled to bring his claims under § 2241. His claims of ineffective assistance of counsel and prosecutorial withholding of evidence place his petition squarely within the scope of § 2255. Section 2255 is not inadequate simply because AEDPA's gatekeeping restrictions prevent him from availing himself of it. See Cradle v. United States ex rel. Miner, 290 F.3d 536, 538-39 (3d Cir. 2002); In re Dorsainvil, 119 F.3d 245, 251 (3d Cir. 1997).

Summary action is appropriate if there is no substantial question on appeal. See Third Circuit LAR 27.4. For essentially the reasons set forth by the District Court, we will summarily affirm the District Court's order dismissing Hazel's § 2241 petition. See Third Circuit I.O.P. 10.6.
